

• Life in LAMORINDA •

Lamorinda Reads: An interview with the author of "Funny in Farsi," Firoozeh Dumas

By Sophie Braccini

Author Firoozeh Dumas

Photo courtesy of Firoozeh Dumas

Following last year's successful "Lamorinda Reads" program, featuring "Down To The Soundless Sea" by Thomas Steinbeck, the three Lamorinda libraries will soon invite our communities to share another book, have discussions and enjoy entertainment. Lamorinda Reads will kick off this year on October 13; the chosen prose is by American-Iranian author Firoozeh Dumas (pronounce firu'zε d→'mæ), "Funny in Farsi - A memoir of growing up Iranian in America."

The book is the colorful depiction of Dumas' family's early experience in the United States, from day one, when her father thought it was a good idea for her mother to join her daughter in the 2nd grade classroom, when none of them spoke a word of English. The very funny tales are painted with the multi-faceted colors of emotion and are an excellent read for all ages. On a secondary level, they are a window on what it means to be a foreigner.

Dumas' need to write came with motherhood. "My father was always a story teller," she said, "when I became a parent I knew all of my father's stories, but my children didn't know mine." When her first child reached kindergarten, she joined a writing group and started or her elderly San Francisco neighbor during the 1989 earthquake. They all come alive and their common humanity is what Dumas captures, first with her heart, then with her writing.

"When I arrived in the United States at age seven, it was really a foreign country and the differences just overwhelmed me," remembers Dumas, "then, I realized that these Americans were not that different from me. This is why I write, to portray the shared humanity amongst us all." Dumas believes that one of the reason for her success is that her stories are universal. "My experiences are those of anybody who is an outsider and wants to belong," she says, "puberty can be just as painful as being a foreigner."

Nowadays Dumas is completely integrated in her community. Having been raised here by Iranians, she has kept her culture. "As an immigrant, one needs to hold on to their language and culture," she believes, "but assimilation is important too, otherwise you end up cheating yourself."

When she comes to Lamorinda for the Grand Finale event of the Lamorinda Reads program on November 12, Dumas will have a lot to say. "I have participated in a dozen of such community reads," she says, "it is very often a cross generational experience and I enjoy meeting my readers of all ages."

She will touch as well on the process of getting published. For her, it was very long and difficult. "Basically, I was told repeatedly that Iranian and funny don't go together, that this is not what Americans want to read," remembers Dumas, "The agents were looking for stories about being oppressed. Oppression sells, apparently, but being a well-adjusted immigrant with a sense of humor is a huge obstacle."

A complete list of the events surrounding Lamorinda Reads will be available in our October 1st issue.

computer technical support repairs • training • websites

NERD4Rent
Computer Consulting & Training

925.283.5666
Nerd4Rent.com

3503 Mt Diablo Blvd, Suite 4
Lafayette, California 94549

Now!
Bigger & Better

Star Pilates

1460 Moraga Road Suite F, Moraga
Moraga Shopping Center, behind McCaulous
www.starpilates.com

Celebration
Saturday, Oct. 4th,
7-9pm
food, drinks,
music, prizes

925-376-7500

Why your whole family should go to UC Berkeley

At the UC Eye Center in Berkeley, good vision is a family affair. From kids 6 to 9 months old to mature grandparents, we have everything it takes for complete examinations, a vast Eyewear Center for glasses and contact lenses, and the latest in Wavefront laser surgery. Please see us soon!

UC BERKELEY OPTOMETRY

Open to the Public 7 Days a week www.caleyecare.com
Free parking with appointments. 510.642.2020

Please send storyideas to storydesk@lamorindaweekly.com

CLINIQUE

It's Bonus Time.
FREE Gift With Purchase!
With any Clinique purchase of 21.50 or more.
It's ready for you at the Clinique counter.
(50.00 Value) Your Bonus Includes:

- Cosmetics Bag
- NEW Moisture Surge Extended Thirst Relief
- Different Lipstick in NEW Gingerfrost
- Lash Doubling Mascara in Black
- Blended Face Powder in NEW Invisible Blend
- Liquid Facial Soap Mild
- Take The Day Off Makeup For Lids, Lashes and Lips

McCaulous's

Allergy Tested
100% Fragrance free
(with the exception of Clinique
Fragrance products)

Lafayette Plaza Center (925) 283-3380

Danville Town & Country (925) 837-0261

Montclair 6211 Medau Pl., Oakland (510) 339-2210

Napa Napa Town Center (707) 255-9375