

"In Sixth, you get down to business," wrote Miller of his sixth grade subjects at Glorietta Elementary School. All photos copyright, Wayne F. Miller, 1958. Used with permission.

"Resignation," responded Miller when asked to describe this math test moment experienced at some point by every student, everywhere.

Though "her class was being broken up and she was moving to another school," wrote Miller of this sixth grader, "a much-admired teacher would still be with her."

"Their spirits were always high and they had an extra eagerness to learn. The class had more than its share of leaders in all fields - scholastic, athletic and social. It made me feel good just to be with them," wrote Miller.

Correction:

In the August 29 issue of Lamorinda Weekly, the story Electric Ahead of their Time: Campo Alums Remember 1970 Cross Country EV Race included a typo in the last name of the retired Campolindo physics instructor. The proper spelling of his name is Tony de Bellis.
