Texture, Variety Abound at Orinda Art Show

Travel, humor, whimsy and texture abound in the latest special art exhibit showing through Jan. 2 at the Orinda Library. The diverse display features four local artists, ages 10 through 89, and includes origami, giclee paintings, hooked rugs and line drawings.

One of the four exhibitors, fourth-grader Alex Meckes, got hooked on the Japanese art of folding paper when he was 5. "I really like geometry," he said, explaining that it's "just you and the paper," pointing to a hand-folded flower tower which incorporated a fractal design. He transformed a simple square of solid colored paper – "prints make it hard to find the crease" – into a crane in just minutes, and enthusiastically discussed his inspiration from Bay Area Rapid Folders and the East Bay Origami Convention. Alex's house is covered with origami; he expects to present about 30 pieces of his work.

Fellow exhibitor George Wahbeh, after 26 years in Orinda, will have his first local showing of giclee paintings – artwork reproduced from his original oil paintings. His subject matter is Jerusalem, where he was born and lived for 19 years, before studying art in Sweden. Wahbeh feels his paintings are especially suitable for the holidays, and finds the holy land's ancient architecture and old stones fascinating.

Roland Nunn makes about four rugs a year, using his own dyed and slit wool cloth, and will show about 18 of the 65 pieces he has completed to date. He said he never paid attention to rug making, despite his mother's love of the craft in the 1950s, until deciding he needed a "sit-down hobby" for his retirement. He's been "hooking" now for 22 years. Although he started using commercially available patterns of geometric shapes, Nunn now designs his own landscape scenes. Nunn says designing hooked rugs has given him a better understanding of color.

And Alexander Walchek, 89, who began drawing people, animals, detailed local landscapes, trains, cars, and fantasy inventions at age 3, calls himself an artist, not a cartoonist. His line drawings are a showcase for his wit and appreciation for humanity. Except for the occasional adult course from area art institutions, Walchek is self-taught.

When asked to advise his nearly 80-year-younger co-exhibitor Meckes, Walchek suggested: "Have fun with your art. Be flexible: [be] open to other media, knowing you can stray and then come back to your art and bring something different to it each time."

Moraga Garden Club Carnivorous Plants Lecture

The man-eating plant of Little Shop of Horrors was just one playwright's take on what would happen if carnivorous plants should – just possibly – get out of control and develop an appetite for larger meals, like us! At the Moraga Garden Club's Nov. 15 meeting, photographer Damon Collingsworth visited from the California Carnivores nursery in Sevastopol to introduce members to the wondrous world of these intriguing plants, and to presented images of the wide variety of "meat-eating" plants featured in the book, The Savage Garden by Peter D'Amato. This vegetation, like many others of the kingdom, has developed fascinating methods and appearances to survive and reproduce in certain environments. Even Charles Darwin claimed to be more captivated by the sundew Drosera that gobbled up insects with relish, than the origin of any other specie in the world. The unique adaptations and methods utilized by the plants are being studied by scientists from universities worldwide.
