

925.377.0977 Seeing Double: Nothing Says Togetherness Like Twins

26,000 copies delivered bi-weekly

to Lamorinda homes

& businesses

By Cathy Dausman

ongratulations, new mother - it's a boy... and another boy! Or a daughter ... and a second daughter ... or one of each! Twin births can rock a new parent's world – and they're nothing new in Lamorinda.

Nancy Brown said she was surrounded by twins in middle school. "Joaquin Moraga Intermediate School had 13 sets of twins" in the mid 1970s, she said. "I was friends with several sets and I remember some of the identical twins switching classes with each other once in a while. It always caught the teachers off guard and gave us a chuckle!"

Robin Bradley, whose 17-year-old fraternal twin sons Cole and Ryan Sitar attend Miramonte High School, remembers Orinda Intermediate School published a "twin yearbook" about the time they attended. Twins run in Bradley's family, and she said having twins is "a great social experience," but it makes child rearing much harder until they're 2, noting her boys were "very active sleepers" for the first six months.

Bradley advises reaching out early for extra help. She joined the Mothers of Twins (now Mothers of Multiples) and enlisted extra help from relatives, setting up a schedule so that she was fully covered the first three weeks of Cole and Ryan's lives. The good and bad thing about having twins, Bradley said, is that twins both learn and do things at the same time. It's a "go for broke" attitude of parenting, she said.

Before ultrasounds became routine, Kathy Ferber of Moraga just thought she carried a very large baby. "The doctor could only hear one heartbeat," she said. But Ferber found out five days before they were born when a savvy nurse practitioner felt two heads, and ... continued on page A14 sent the mother off for X-rays.

Quote of the Week:

"Teaching is food for the soul and the intellect." Read The Complete Package -

Advertising

Come In & "Spin To Win" on our wheel!

It's FREE and our customers and non-customers are all welcome to try their luck! This special promotion will expire May 31st, so come in today!"

You could win: · 55 Coffee Card · 510 Grocery Card

 Flash Drive - One of 6 other promotional items

Town News Business Α8 Life in Lamorinda B1 - B12 Classified B8 Not to be Missed B10-B11 HOW TO CONTACT US B11 Service Directory B12 B12 Food C1 - C3 Sports Shop Moraga C4 D1-D20 Our Homes This Week Read About: Mayor Hosts Workshops A2 2014 Roads Campaign A5 Library Celebration A6 Ambulance Dilemma Α9 Youth Ink Winners В3 Earth Day at School B6 New Director at THT B7 B9 Big Events in May Boys' Volleyball C1

How do Lamorinda Cities Deal with Water Cutbacks?

By Cathy Tyson

hile household customers in the East Bay Municipal Utility District's service area have been asked to voluntarily reduce their water usage by 10 percent, that request applies to municipalities as well. Staffers in Lafayette, Moraga and Orinda are well aware of the situation and are already doing their respective parts to wisely manage this precious resource.

Dismal precipitation this past winter and the continued drought that California is facing has spurred EBMUD's board of directors to purchase approximately 16,000 acre feet of water from the Sacramento River to be deposited into East Bay reservoirs; in addition, they reiterated their earlier request for all customers to cut water use by 10 percent.

The Sacramento River water travels about 130 miles to San Pablo Creek where it will flow to the San Pablo Reservoir, or to Moraga Creek where it will flow to the Upper San Leandro Reservoir. The 16,000 acre-feet of water translate to about 5.2 billion gallons or enough to fill the Oakland Coliseum 24 times. While this water improves reliability to EBMUD's 1.3 million customers in Alameda and Contra Costa counties, oddly none of it will flow to Lamorinda customers; instead going to a dozen other cities including Crockett, Rodeo, Hercules, Pinole and beyond.

At a media event to highlight the increased water supply, EBMUD general manager Alexander Coate thanked customers for their continued water vigilance. How are Lamorinda's three municipalities handling the request?

... continued on page A15

Water traveling 130 miles from the Sacramento River flows through these pipes into the San Pablo Creek at the EBMUD facility off of Manzanita Drive in Orinda. Photo Ohlen Alexander

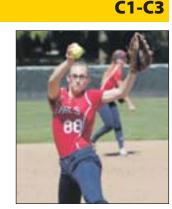

Life in Lamorinda

B1-B12

Bringing Out the Book SMC Softball Steps it Up

Sports

Gaels look to make a run at the WCC title page C2.

Our Homes

Juniors Kitchen Tour

Enjoy a sneak peek at two of the spectacular kitchens on the May 17 tour - page D1.

Local writing groups offer help and good company page B1.