Donald Rheem Elementary School's School Bee champ two years in a row, and went to the state finals last year. He is proud to have been able to represent JM at the state competition this year. In addition to his love of geography and current affairs, Mason loves playing the piano and French horn, and being a Boy Scout.

Andrew Navruzyan is a fifth-grade student at Donald Rheem Elementary School. This was his first time competing in the state competition. He was proud to represent Rheem Elementary in Fresno this year. In addition to his love of geography, he enjoys building model planes and playing piano.

Although Mason and Andrew did not advance to the final round, they enjoyed meeting other boys and girls who share the same passion for geography. They look forward to competing in the JM Geo Bee next year for a chance to advance to the state finals again.
