Town Hall Theatre will be screening the next in Sustainable Lafayette's 2018 film series, "Years of Living Dangerously," the highly acclaimed National Geographic series that covers crucial issues, such as climate change, deforestation, historic droughts and the rapidly increasing extinction rate of the planet's wildlife.

Sustainable Lafayette says that the film will feature an episode of the series focusing on energy production and the tactics traditional energy producers have used to slow down the growth of solar energy in the U.S. and around the world. Bryan Miller, a Lafayette resident and a former lobbyist for Exxon who joined the solar industry, is interviewed in the episode. He will be a guest speaker during a Q&A session following the screening.

The film will be shown at 7:30 p.m. at Town Hall Theatre, 3535 School St., Lafayette. There will be a pre-show reception at 6:30 p.m. Admission to the film is $10 for adults and $5 for youth and seniors. Refreshments and beverages will be served. - P. Fisher
