Miramonte holds "Senior Day" for class of 2024

Capping off Senior Day, students took a panoramic photo in the big gym. They returned to the theater for the afternoon's biggest highlight: a magic show.

The lead magician, Cosmo, guided student volunteers through card games, visual stunts, and other activities. "The tricks were really cool ... but Cosmo was also able to relate them to some broader advice he gave us, which I thought gave the show a deeper meaning," senior Jason Wagner said.

"Cosmo's performance had a great message that resonated with me," senior Asher Patel said. "He told everyone to believe they are enough, that they are never alone, no matter how stressful life gets, and that we are blessed to be where we are."

Senior Spirit Week is not the only time Miramonte celebrates its graduating class. In August, Leadership and the Parent's Club hosted a Senior Barbecue and car painting event. Students attended Senior Sunrise and Sunset on the football field; Ball at San Francisco's City Hall; and, most recently, a Time of Reflection ceremony.

"My favorite celebratory memory was undoubtedly Senior Sunset," student Selma Ahmed said. "I loved decorating graduation caps, signing yearbooks, reminiscing about our high school years, and enjoying the delicious treats generously provided by parents."

Dressed in college sweatshirts last Tuesday, seniors buzzed with anticipation of a bright future. Ahmed is committed to Stanford University — but first, as a recipient of the National Security Language Initiative for Youth scholarship, she'll be immersing herself in a gap year in Morocco to study Arabic. "I'm incredibly excited to live in Rabat, Morocco for eight months," Ahmed said. "I imagine this experience will greatly enrich my worldview."

The atmosphere was also one of heartfelt goodbyes. Wagner is headed on an international path, studying civil engineering at Canada's University of Waterloo. "I will miss being in a tight-knit community," Wagner said. "While I look forward to college, there's something special about attending a small school and knowing every face around you."

Ultimately, smiles and laughter championed this Spirit Week as friends celebrated one another's achievements. "Playing games on Senior Day, listening to music at Senior Sunset, and jumping in the pool after the rally brought the class together," student and future Wesleyan University first-year Grace Bell said. "Everyone's so excited for their future and each other, which makes for a bittersweet ending to high school."

"I hope these seniors walk away [from Senior Spirit Week] with a sense of accomplishment," Braitberg said. "This class's freshman year was half-online due to COVID, which points to their resiliency. No matter what the future holds — whether it's getting a job, going to college, or taking a gap year — I hope students know that graduation is huge and something to be truly proud of."
